DATA BREACH OF THE ARMSCOR SITE

Date: 12 July 2016

Arm Scor, the acquisition agency for the Department of Defence is aware of the data breach of its website.

A team of cyber experts has been convened to conduct a forensic analysis to determine the full extent of this incident. This is to ensure that tighter measures and interventions are in place to prevent similar attempts from recurring.

While investigation is being undertaken, Arm Scor can confirm at this stage that information accessed does not contain sensitive and classified content. Lulu Mzili, the General Manager: Marketing & Business Development said “we are aware of the increase in cyber threats, globally; hence IT infrastructure renewal is one of Arm Scor’s strategic focus areas”.

Arm Scor would like to assure its stakeholders that this matter is receiving undivided attention.
